1. All pending claims 1, 3, and 5-15 are allowed. Claims 1, 8, 10, and 13 are independent.
2. The amendment filed June 16, 2006 has overcome the rejection of claims 3-7 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, and the objection to claims 1, 6-9, 11, and 13-15.

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Reasons for allowance for independent claims 1, 8, 10, and 13 given in the previous Office Action dated March 24, 2006 are still valid after the updated search. The reasons are repeated below.

Claim 1 is allowable because the claimed detailed is not taught by the closest prior art Houston et al. (6,442,497), including the scan data representing printing densities which when written out to the film recorder produces printing densities of the output film onto the target print material that are identical to the printing densities of the same photographic film optically transferred onto the target print material.

Claim 8 and its dependent claim 9 are allowable because the closest prior art Houston et al. (6,442,497) does not disclose the steps of comparing the scan measurements to aim values derived from the film calibration elements, the aim values representing printing densities of the output film, and adjusting the film scanning device until the scan measurements substantially agree with or equal to the aim values as claimed.

Claim 10 and its dependent claims 11 and 12 are allowable because the closest prior art Houston et al. (6,442,497) does not disclose a telecine scanning device that continuously scans the motion picture film after the telecine scanning device is calibrated in relation to printing densities.

Claim 13 and its dependent claims 14 and 15 are allowable because the closest prior art Houston et al. (6,442,497) does not disclose calibrating, using the calibrating element (Fig. 3), the film scanning device with respect to aim values representing printing densities and generating calibrated scan settings, and producing code values by the film scanning device as claimed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
